

What is The Envision Greenhouse?

Where emerging leaders can meet, collaborate, and serve together through mentoring relationships facilitated by Envision Canada.

Where mentees will get to be a part of this intentional growth community while staying in their local context as they continue to study, work, care for their families and serve their local church.

More than just a creative outlet, this will teach emerging leaders how to sharpen their skills in bringing innovation to church development, global missions, funding strategies, and much more.

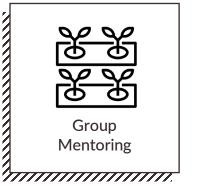

What does it look like?

Every mentee comes in for a season and can stay for multiple seasons. The purpose is for each mentee to find a safe environment for growth alongside others before they continue to grow beyond.

- Mentees find a local mentor they can meet regularly
- Follow Envision 101 or specific know-be-do based on area of expertise
- Mentor to ask the hard questions
- Meet bi-weekly (once every other week)

- Cross-pollination peer-to-peer mentoring
- Organized into topic-related subgroups
- Mentees take on a 6-month long project
- Cared for by a mentor that oversees the group
- Frequency of meeting TBD by group and mentor

- · All mentee gatherings facilitated by Envision & other leader development partners
- Mentees all follow same 5 intro sessions based on 5 pillars
- · Once a month for online sessions or inperson weekend x3 when possible, or mix

What are the initial focus groups?

Oral Communication & Storytelling

Whether it's preaching, sharing, storytelling, or spoken word, we are passionate to teach a new generation on ways the Gospel can be proclaimed differently and to a diverse audience.

Leading as Women

Whether at the pulpit, in business meetings, in public office, or even at home, God has empowered women to lead His Church and for His Gospel to be incarnated through them.

Development & Entrepreneurship

Whether it's Business as Missions, for-profit missional businesses, organizational leadership, or funding development, we believe that God calls people to pursue these for His Kingdom impact.

Artists & Creatives

Whether it would be through music, videography, illustration, graphic design, photography, we look to creators to use their skills to express the glory of God in all its majesty.

Community Development & Outreach

Whether it's reaching your elderly neighbour, floormates from overseas, recent immigrants, or the elite urbanites, we know that God is on the move for these communities.

Justice & Compassion

Whether it's through Creation Care, combatting human trafficking or caring for the marginalized, we believe in bringing the whole Gospel to all.

Defining the Relationship Role descriptions

We connect people in meaningful mentoring relationships that promote whole person development, because we believe that it takes a village to grow a leader.

The Mentor

Must be recognized within the Alliance for their experience and leadership. Mentors can choose to oversee a group, be a 1-1 mentor, or be an expert for all mentee gatherings. Mentors commit their time in either of these areas and benefit from the pools of creativity and spiritual journeys with mentees.

The Mentee

Typically 18-35-years-old, these young adults are already recognized as emerging leaders in their local context and are referred to participate in a "season" cohort in the hopes that they network with other leaders, grow in their skillsets by joining a group, and learn to become future mentors themselves.

What's the commitment for mentees?

Continuing to help build the local church

Still studying or working at the same time

- Envision becomes accessible where young leaders are currently.
- We nurture them from a distance.
- They can engage in missional engagements with prior knowledge to Envision values.

Once every other week or every week according to mentee's needs.

Group Mentoring

Once a month to collaborate on your project with your group and to get feedback for a few hours.

All Mentee Gathering

Once every 6 weeks (4 times in total) for half a day online. In the future, perhaps two weekends during the 'season' at Muskoka.

What's the 'organic' outcomes?

The local church becomes aware that Envision resources their young adults

Young adult realizes that they don't have to wait to be on the mission's field to mentor or serve

- Mentees can stay on for multiple seasons.
- They start buying into Alliance DNA and initiatives.
- Alliance leadership starts making sense as part of their development

We are better aware of the individual growth and development of emerging leaders

We benefit from some of their collaboration on projects related to the Alliance

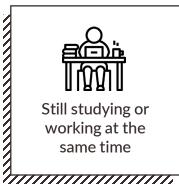

We stop being an 'event' or 'one off experience' hub but cultivate a national community of leaders

 Mentee gets access to a wide diversity of mentors from different backgrounds and for different purposes.

1-1 Mentoring

Once every other week or every week according to mentee's needs approached personally by the mentee. Can be local or remote.

Group Mentoring

miniminimini.

Once a month or twice during 6 months. Mentor provides feedback or helps spearhead the designated project (ex: neighbourly project)

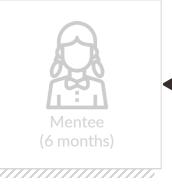

Speakers for 1 hour sessions that can speak on a specific topic like Soul Care.

What's the 'organic' outcomes?

The local church becomes a champion for the network but also provides mentors that are pastors or lay leaders

Mmmh... I guess the work or study falls more in line with their calling/future?

Mentor changes through the relationship when they disciple someone else and grow in selfawareness

If it's a local pastor, then they automatically buy into the vision of Envision in raising new leaders. They tangibly see results.

Mentor can use these projects to help propel some of their initiatives and have a pool of volunteers

If it's an Alliance worker or professional, they can have direct access to a pool of candidates that already know their area.

Can speak to a wide diverse group of young adults at the national level

Who doesn't want to say that they were a speaker at a national gathering of emerging leaders?
